Bio

My name is Kende Détár and web development is my greatest passion. I have always been a fan of CSS and Javascript (and its giant ecosystem of libraries and frameworks).

For the past 2 years, I have been working as a one-man dev team, so my next goal is to join a team of great developers and help them with my knowledge and determination.

Web development and web design are also my personal hobbies, even in my free time I am constantly reading about new technologies and trying to broaden my knowledge on any web-related topics.
